Instead of having our Orthodox Bishops warning us about what is really happening in the world we get non Orthodox sites to warn us about the impending danger? Unfortunately they are there to betray. Here is what we find on the "The American Dream" website:

Quotes:

During that same ecumenical meeting, Pope Francis also made it a point to state that he feels "close" to those that belong "to any religious tradition"... In this, we feel close even to all those men and women who, whilst not recognizing themselves belonging to any religious tradition, feel themselves nevertheless to be in search of truth, goodness and beauty, this truth, goodness and beauty of God, and who are our precious allies in efforts to defend the dignity of man, in building a peaceful coexistence among peoples and in guarding Creation carefully.

In particular, he seems quite interested in improving relations with the Orthodox churches of the east... Before his address, the pope had a private meeting with Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew from Istanbul, who attended Francis's inaugural Mass on Tuesday. It was the first time the spiritual head of Orthodox Christians had attended a Roman pope's inaugural Mass since the Great Schism between western and eastern Christianity in 1054. At Wednesday's meeting, Francis called Bartholomew "my brother Andrew," a reference to the apostle who was the brother of St. Peter and was the first bishop of the Church of Byzantium. Francis also held a private session with Metropolitan Hilarion, the foreign minister of the Russian Orthodox Church, the largest in the Orthodox world.

Also Pope Francis has a reputation for being a cleric that really "knows Islam"...

Sumer Noufour, secretary-general of the Islamic Center of the Republic of Argentina, told the Buenos Aires Herald that the new pope is a "respectful, pro-dialogue person who knows Islam."
